

Application Guidelines

Approval/Evaluation Process

- Each application may choose one or more programs (i.e. Ask Auntie, Cuystwi Phase 1 or Phase 2)
- Successful applicants will be those who demonstrate awareness and acceptance of reporting requirements with PHSA Indigenous Youth Wellness Programming
- Although an application may meet all application requirements, financial and program support is dependent on the amount of applications received and the diversity of needs
- Applicants may apply for any amount up to $3000. The amount requested will not factor into the selection process.
- Applications will be reviewed by an Indigenous Youth Wellness Committee

If you are having difficulties submitting applications, or need additional resources or feedback please do not hesitate to seek assistance from our team!

Reporting Requirements

- If you're a successful applicant, your youth group will be required to submit a feedback form and high-level support summary upon completion of the program.
 - Feedback reports could discuss:
 - Whether your youth group produced wellness capacities in your community.
 - Benefits of running the program(s)
 - Areas where the program(s) can be improved.
 - Participant evaluations
 - Pictures and videos that were captured during the program. Media content may be published on the PHSA Indigenous Youth Wellness website and social media feeds.
- There will be a minimum of three scheduled calls with the Indigenous Youth Wellness team for the duration of the partnership.
 - Initial call: setup a plan for the duration of the partnership program.
 - Midpoint call: check-in to see how the program is going.
 - End of program call: debrief and discuss how the program went for the youth group.
 - The Indigenous Youth Wellness team is here to for ongoing support throughout the program.

Due to demand, incomplete applications will not be considered.

The deadline for applications is January 31, 2020!
